

Pop! A RAZZA!

KIRA COPLIN

Anyone in the business of trendsetting knows that it's not about who you're wearing these days—it's all about who's been photographed wearing it. One B-list celebrity snapped on her morning coffee run in a certain pair of sunglasses can sell out the entire line in a number of days. Still, we all know that money can't buy taste—though somehow the Olsen twins managed to make 'bag lady chic' quite popular at one time. For those of you who can't resist pulling the latest fashions from the pages of Us Weekly, fear not, we've found some of the hottest celeb styles for the upcoming season—oversized handbags and cups of Starbucks need not apply.
